AVOID USING PERSONAL DEVICES FOR DISTRICT BUSINESS

In early March, the California Supreme Court issued a ruling that determined that communications concerning the conduct of public business are within the reach of the Public Records Act (PRA), even if the communication is sent on an employee's personal device. What this means is that if employees use their personal devices—cell phones, laptops, tablets, etc.—to conduct District business, these communications may be considered public records and must be retained in accordance with the District's Records Retention and Destruction policy (BUL-6825.0). The District is recommending that employees use their District email accounts—rather than personal email accounts—to conduct all District-related business and avoid using text messages on their personal devices to conduct District business. The District plans to offer workshops in the next few months that will help District employees distinguish what is a public vs. a private record. For more information, please contact the PRA Unit at 213.241.7600.

HEALTH BENEFITS FAQ— SPRING CLEAN AWAY THOSE ALLERGENS IN YOUR HOME

Are you among the 1 in 5 who suffers from allergies? Do you get a scratchy throat, runny nose, itchy eyes, sneezing and coughing fits every spring or summer?

If so, you may be affected by one or more airborne allergens, such as grass, weed, or tree pollen; dust mites; mold; and/or cat and dog dander, to name just a few.

Will spring-cleaning remove all allergens?

There's no magic bullet solution to keep the air clean in your home, but a thorough spring-cleaning will help reduce substances that trigger allergic reactions. Remember to wear gloves and a mask when cleaning.

What areas of the home harbor allergens? What are some tips to clean those areas?

- Bedroom
 - Wash your bedding weekly in really hot water (130°). Cover your mattress and pillows with dust mite proof protectors.
 - If you have a carpet, vacuum frequently using a HEPA filter.
 - Heavy drapes that need dry cleaning harbor dust mites—use window shades or washable drapery instead and wash frequently.
 - Use your air conditioner rather than opening windows to keep your indoor air clean.
 - De-clutter your bedroom—remove dust-collecting objects.
 - Consider making your bedroom a pet-free zone to keep out pet hair/dander.
 - In children's bedrooms, stuffed animals collect dust and allergens; replace them with washable animals.
- Bathroom
 - Wash shower curtains at least once a month.
 - Turn on the bathroom fan to remove moisture when showering.
 - Check and clean soap dish and toothbrush holders often.

FAQ (Cont.)

- Remove carpeting from bathrooms and minimize use of throw rugs. If you use them, wash at least once a week.
- Check and clean mold (if any) from shower stalls. Use a mold-removing cleanser, as soap and water will not kill mold.
- Kitchen
 - Put your garbage into a closed container.
 - Clean up refrigerator spills and other spills immediately.
 - Clean under stove, refrigerator, and narrow spaces next to appliances to remove food crumbs and dust. Remember to drain and wash refrigerator drip trays.
 - Keep counters as clutter free as possible.
 - Attractive as they are, plants in kitchen garden windows promote mold growth.
- Closets
 - Remove everything and clean.
 - Wash or dry clean seasonal clothing and store in plastic containers. Make sure your clothing is thoroughly dry. Do not overstuff your storage containers; leave room for air to circulate.

Additional tips on removing allergens from your home are found on the Internet by searching “remove allergens from the home” or naming a specific room or area.

Congratulations are in order for the AMAZING AALA frontline managers for successfully completing the Executive Certificated Leadership Development (EXCeL) Program. The cohort had a 100% graduation rate as to be expected. AALA is especially pleased because during the past year, participants built and refined their leadership skills through seminars, work shadowing opportunities, while being supported by mentors, thereby making them eligible to apply for LAUSD senior management positions. These fine administrators will surely exhibit the necessary sensitivity and acumen to lead and support frontline administrators as senior managers.

Accolades go to Superintendent Michelle King for conceptualizing and ensuring LAUSD talent is valued and nurtured from within the organization. Ileana Dávalos, Director, Professional Learning and Leadership Development Branch, and proud AALA member, along with Marilyn Fuller, Personnel Research & Analysis & Administrative Selection, provided exemplary professional development opportunities to the candidates who expressed that the program was challenging, informative, and stretched them to see themselves as potential senior managers in the District. AALA extends its gratitude to the executive mentors, presenters, shadowing mentors, and Dr. Jose R. Cantu, Co-Lead Chief HR Officer & Marjorie Josaphat, Co-Lead Chief HR Officer, Human Resources Division. Certificates of Excellence Awards have been presented to complex project managers throughout this school year for having achieved an Exemplary Rating on their school sites' LACOE Williams facility inspection. Williams v. California was a class action lawsuit filed in May 2000, claiming the state's poorest children were being denied equal educational opportunities. The suit alleged that public school students lacked equal access to instructional materials, safe and decent school facilities, and qualified teachers. As part of the settlement, LACOE must conduct annual visits at 579 selected low-performing schools, and for facilities, must determine whether students have access to school facilities that are clean, safe, and functional. The CPMs below received 99-100% scores when one or more of their school sites were inspected:
