Week of January 29, 2018

LANGUAGE MATTERS!

A healthcare tentative agreement (TA) was reached between the District and all eight unions on Thursday, January 18, 2018. As labor partners, we stood united against any healthcare cuts. The TA must be approved by members of the unions; AALA active members in good standing will have the opportunity to ratify it early in February. The big picture TA includes:

- ❖ A 3-year healthcare agreement for eligible employees and retirees
- ❖ Preservation of all current healthcare plans, at no additional costs to members
- ❖ No two-tier system with lower benefits for new employees
- ❖ A guaranteed reserve to help pay for cost increases beyond 2020

The eight united labor partners issued the following statement, “After years of District threats to our healthcare, it is a victory for all unions to remain steadfast against any concessions. This is an agreement that is good for employees, good for the District, and good for our students and our communities. LAUSD must continue to attract and retain top-notch employees, and that includes offering fully-funded healthcare.” Our position is that healthcare benefits are part of deferred compensation for workers. Such benefits enable LAUSD to not only retain employees but to avoid the costs of recruiting and training new employees.

The biggest takeaway from this latest round of negotiations, besides a momentary celebration, is the importance of combatting and countering the narrative being told by both reputable and not so reputable news outlets. Unions have been characterized as “lords” robbing the classroom of much-needed funds at unrealistic, unsustainable, and unfair costs to taxpayers and students. George Lakoff and Elisabeth Wehling, authors of The Little Blue Book, emphasize the power of strategic discourse when communicating truth. Using their language as a reference, unions and their members can counter destructive narratives with sincerity and transparency, highlighting the nexus between freedom and life, particularly as it relates to healthcare:

- ❖ *You are not free if you have cancer and unviable healthcare. You could die.
- ❖ *You are not free if you have to sell your home to pay to keep a family member alive.
- ❖ *When health insurance plans deny you care when you need it, they deny you liberty.

To emphasize our point, and in preparation for future negotiations, the best defense is a powerful offense. Basic cognitive science recognizes that it is always best to start with the positive because it then sets the frame and determines how facts are interpreted. The initial framing structures the whole discourse. When we refer to healthcare benefits, we should not shoot ourselves in the foot, but use language that matters by paraphrasing what the authors identify in the book when they refer to Medicare:

- ❖ The lives of LAUSD employees hinge on the healthcare benefits active employees and retirees receive. Health is a life-and-death issue.
- ❖ Employee's freedom depends on fair and equitable healthcare. You are not free if you have a serious illness or accident without treatment, which almost everyone has, eventually.
- ❖ The equation for a stable and reliable workforce includes viable healthcare. The District publicly promulgates its love for its employees. If this fundamental tenet is true, then quality healthcare must be at the core of the District's beliefs.
- ❖ The District has an ethical responsibility to fund the healthcare benefits of its employees.

Editor's note: The healthcare tentative agreement and AALA's ratification process will be shared in a future Update.

THANK YOU, AALA ANGELS

Thank you to the 160 AALA active members who joined the ranks of AALA angels and committed to a $5 monthly tax-deductible payroll deduction to support the Friends of AALA scholarship program. We have now met the District minimum requirement and will notify participants of the specific pay period when the $5 deductions will begin. While we have met the initial goal of 150 to start the program, our next milestone is to have at least 300 members authorize payroll deductions to provide scholarships for LAUSD graduating students. You, too, can join the ranks of the AALA angels, simply complete the online form (click HERE) and email to AALA President Juan A. Flecha at juan.flecha@lausd.net or fax to the office, 213.484.0201.

HEALTH BENEFITS FAQ— PEAK FLU SEASON IS HERE

How can I tell the difference between a bad cold and the flu?

Cold symptoms gradually worsen after a few days, while flu symptoms come on quickly and are severe. In addition to cold-like symptoms, flu symptoms may also include one or more of the following: moderate to high fever, shaking chills, severe muscle or body aches, severe fatigue, nausea, and vomiting (most common in children).

What flu symptoms should trigger a call to your doctor or a visit to urgent care or the emergency room?

You should contact or see a doctor if you have any of these symptoms: trouble breathing or chest pain; a persistent fever, cough, and/or headache that does not go away; inability to keep down food or drink; or pain when swallowing.

What is the contagious period for the flu?

A person could pass on the flu a day before symptoms develop and up to seven days after being infected with flu. Generally, the flu is most contagious during the first 3-4 days after the illness begins.

FAQ (Cont.)

I have heard that this year's flu vaccine is less effective than in previous years. Is this true?

Yes, according to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), this season's 2017-2018 flu vaccine is about 30% effective against the virulent H3N2 influenza A epidemic that still rages on. There are more deaths from flu this year than previous seasons, with urgent care and emergency rooms inundated with flu patients. Kaiser members recently received a robocall warning of long wait times in urgent care, offering self-help advice to those with less severe symptoms. To deal with the large numbers of flu patients, some medical centers have put up tents in their parking lots to triage flu patients.

Despite the low effectiveness of this year's vaccine against H3N2, the CDC and public health agencies urge being immunized as the best way to prevent and fight against other flu strains that typically show up later in the flu season, such as influenza B. Take preventive actions such as washing your hands frequently, covering your mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing, avoiding places with lots of people, and staying home when sick.

Why is the vaccine less effective than previous vaccines?

Research has shown that the limited effectiveness of this year's vaccine is due to a mutation that occurred during the egg-based manufacturing process of the influenza A (H3N2) vaccine. Each year, a special CDC committee reviews data on influenza incidence and makes recommendations. This year's vaccine offered protection against three (or four) influenza viruses shown to be most common, including influenza B, influenza A (H1N1), and influenza A (H3N2) viruses.

Who should be vaccinated?

The CDC recommends that everyone from 6 months of age should be vaccinated, including people over 65 years of age, those with high risk of complications if they get sick with the flu, those with asthma, diabetes, chronic lung disease, and people who live with or care for others who are at high risk for developing complications. Even though we are in the midst of flu season, it is not too late to be vaccinated.

Are there people who should not be vaccinated?

Yes. People should consult their physician about getting vaccinated if:

- They have an allergy to chicken eggs.
- Previously had a severe reaction to an influenza vaccination.
- They currently have a moderate to severe illness.
- If they have a history of Guillain-Barre Syndrome.

For additional information, visit the CDC website at: <https://www.cdc.gov/flu/index.htm>.

Congratulations to Vintage Elementary Math/Science/Technology Magnet School (Nancy Williams-Mourao, Principal) and Harbor Teacher Preparation Academy (Jan Murata, Principal) for being named 2017 National Blue Ribbon Schools, the nation's highest award for academic achievement. Only 1,000 schools nationwide received this honor and just 25 are located in California. In addition, Harbor was one of only seven schools in the country to win an additional honor and be recognized as an Exemplary Achievement Gap Closing School, which means that all subgroups of students are achieving. Congratulations to all the stakeholders of both schools.
